London, June 28.

Yesterday being the Day appointed by Her Majesty for a general Thanksgiving to Almighty God, for having given to the Arms of Her Majesty, in Conjunction with those of Her Allies, under the Command of the Duke of Marlborough, a Signal and Glorious Victory in Brabant, over the French Army; and for Restoring the greatest Part of the Spanish Netherlands to the Possession of the House of Austria, in the Person of King Charles the Third, by the Happy and Wonderful Progress of the Confederate Forces; and for having Bless'd the Arms of Her Majesty and those of Her Allies, with great Successes in Catalonia, and other Parts of Spain; was solemniz'd by Her Majesty, her Court, and the Magistracy of this City, in the following Manner.

About 10 a Clock in the Morning, a Battallion of the Foot Guards march'd to St. Pauls, and made a Guard in the Body of the Church. The Companies of this City, in their Livery Gowns, repair'd to their several Stands, which were erected on both sides of Fleet-street and so up to St. Pauls. The Way from St. Pauls to Temple-bar was lin'd by Three Regiments of the City train'd Bands, and from thence to St. James's by the Militia of Westminster.

Most of the Lords and Privy Councillors that were in, or about Town, met about eleven in the Morning in the Council Chamber at St. James's; the Knights of the most Noble Order of the Garter, wearing the Collars of that Order; and having been Marshall'd by some of the Officers of Arms, proceeded about 12 in their Coaches and six Horses each, towards St. Paul's, viz.

Sir Simon Harcourt Solicitor General, the Right honourable James Vernon Esq; one of Her Majesty's Privy Council, Sir John Trevor Kt. Master of the Rolls, Sir Thomas Trevor Kt. Lord chief Justice of the Common Pleas, Sir John Holt Kt. Lord chief Justice of the Court of Queen's Bench; Henry Boyle Esq; Chancellor and under Treasurer of the Exchequer; the Right honourable Robert Harley Esq. and Sir Charles Hedges Kt. principal Secretaries of State; the honourable John Smith Esq; Speaker of the House of Commons; the Lord Allington, the Lord Coleraine, the Lord Gernsey, the Lord Granville, the Lord Sommers, the Lord Dartmouth, the Lord Rockingham, the Lord Mounbun, the Lord Howard of Effingham, the Lord Wharton, the Lord la Warr, the Lord Bishop of Bangor, the Lord Bishop of Rochester, the Lord Bishop of London; the Lord Woodstock, the Lord Walden; the Lord Viscount Townshend; the Earl of Ranelagh, the Earl of Portmore, the Earl of Orford, the Earl of Scarborough, the Earl of Rochester, the Earl of Radnor, the Earl of Feversham, the Earl of Carlisle, the Earl of Anglesey, the Earl of Essex, the Earl of Sunderland, the Earl of Kingston, Earl Rivers, the Earl of Manchester; Duke Schonburg, the Duke of Bolton, the Duke of Grafton, the Duke of Richmond, the Earl of Pembroke Lord President of the Privy Council, the Lord High Treasurer, the Lord Archbishop of Canterbury.

After them came Her Majesty attended in the following manner, viz. First the Knight Marshal, and his Men on Horse back; the Equeries, Pages of Honour, and the Gentlemen Ushers in waiting, in her Majesty's leading Coach; the Women of the Bed-Chamber to her Majesty in another of the Queen's Coaches; the Maids of Honour in another; the Duke of Somerset, Master of the Horse; and the Duke of Ormond Captain of the Guards in waiting, in the Queen's Body Chariot, drawn by six Horses, drest up with Knots of blue and red Ribbons; A Detachment of the Horse Granadiers; her Majesty's Footmen; the Yeomen of the Guards led by the Marquis of Harrington, some before, and some on each side of the Queen's Coach; Then her Majesty, the Dutcheß of Marlborough, Groom of the Stole, and the Countess of Burlington, being the Lady of the Bed-Chamber in waiting, in the Coach of State, drawn by eight fine Horses drest with Red Knots; a Troop of Horse Guards closing the Procession.

Within Temple-Bar, the Right Honourable Sir Thomas Rawlinson Knight, Lord Mayor of London, in a very rich Crimson Velvet Gown, and wearing the City Jewel, attended with the Court of Aldermen and Sheriffs on Horseback, (all the proper Officers being on Foot in their Formalities, led by the City Marshal) waiting for her Majesty. When the Queen enter'd the Gate, his Lordship alighted, and Congratulating her Majesty upon this happy Occasion, with a bended Knee, presented the City Sword, but she was graciously pleas'd to return it to him, after which he mounted again, and tid bare-headed, carrying it before her Majesty to the Entrance of the Cathedral of St. Paul's, (the Aldermen, &c. immediately preceding him,) where the Sword-bearer to the City, receiv'd it from his Lordship, who, with his Brethren, went directly to their Seats.

Her Majesty came to St. Paul's at half an Hour past One, and was handed out of the Coach by the Earl of Kent Lord Chamberlain. And the great Officers, Nobility, &c. came down to the lower End of the Church to receive Her; from whence the proceeding was thus,

First, the Officers of Arms; then the Privy Councillors (not Peers) before-mentioned; Barons two and two; Bishops; Viscount Townshend; Earls two and two; Dukes two and two; Norroy King of Arms; Lord Keeper, Duke of Devonshire Lord Steward, Lord President, Lord Treasurer, and the Lord Archbishop of Canterbury; Sergeants at Arms with their Maces, Garter King of Arms between two Gentlemen Ushers; the Sword of State, born by his his Grace the Duke of Northumberland with his Collar and George, the Lord Chamberlain leading Her Majesty, follow'd by the Dutchess of Marlborough and the Countess of Burlington; (the Maids of Honour and Ladies of the Bed Chamber, having as they alighted gone before to their Places appointed in the Choir,) The Duke of Ormond Captain of the Guard, and the Duke of St. Albans, Captain of the Pensioners with the Band of Pensioners closing the Procession. The Privy Councillors, Peers, &c. and great Officers were conducted to the Stalls on the North-side of the Choir, behind whom in on of the Seats under the Gallery, sat the foreign Ambassadors; the Morocco Ambassador with his Retinue being plac'd by themselves.

Her Majesty having ascended the Throne, plac'd in the middle of the Choir, just before the Organ, seated herself in an Arm'd Chair; behind the Queen were Stools for the Groom of the Stole, and the Lady of the Bed-Chamber in Waiting. The principal Officers in Waiting, viz. the Duke of Ormond, Marquis of Hartington, Lord Chamberlain, Lord Steward, Vice-Chamberlain, &c. attended all within the Throne; as also the Master of the Horse to her Majesty, and the Duke of Richmond; the Ladies of the Bed-Chamber sat in the Stalls; the Peeresses were plac'd at the West End of the middle Gallery; the Dean and Prebendaries sat within the Rails of the Altar, except such as officiated in Reading Prayers.

The first Anthem was Psalm 47, all but the last Verse. The 2d Anthem, was several Verses of Psalm 86. The Sermon began at half an Hour past 3, and ended at a Quarter past 4: Dr. Stanhope Dean of Canterbury preach'd, and took for his Text the 29th Verse of the 33d Chapter of Deuteronomy, Happy art thou O Israel: Who is like unto thee, O people saved by the Lord, the shield of thy help, and who is the Sword of thy Excellency! and thine Enemies shall be found Liers unto thee, and thou shalt tread upon their high Places.

Her Majesty returning to St. James's, was attended to Temple-bar by the Sheriffs.

The great Guns at the Tower were discharg'd thrice, viz. when her Majesty took Coach at St. James's, at the Singing of Te Deum (which was perform'd with Vocal and Instrumental Musick,) and at her Return to St. James's. The Balconies and Windows of the Streets through which her Majesty pass'd, were most of them adorn'd with Tapistrie, &c. and crowded with Spectators: And at Night there were Bonfires, Illuminations, &c. as usual on such an Occasion.
